

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

It is not in the best interest of democracy to allow a few huge corporations to control the media. Not everyone has the access and/or the time to search the internet for more balanced reporting.

Rather than allowing an even tighter stranglehold on information, the FCC should be doing just the opposite, including the promotion of a return to the Fairness Doctrine..